Rocket® Smart Chat for MultiValue

Extend MultiValue applications with GenAI-based content insights

Rocket Smart Chat empowers MultiValue application modernization with secure, GenAI-driven content processing from disparate repositories. Now developers can effortlessly build custom conversational interfaces to expedite insight generation from content. Save time, reduce costs, and enhance customer satisfaction using the Smart Chat API for seamless and effective integration.

Benefits and Features

GenAI-powered conversations

Natural language interface allows for conversational interaction for quick insights that saves time.

Powerful federation capabilities

Synthesize and access content across diverse sources and respositories across your enterprise, including cloud and hybrid cloud.

Enhanced information security

With robust governance options, ensure your sensitive content stays protected while maximizing usability.

Seamless system integration

Integrate effortlessly within your current MultiValue applications using our secure REST API for ultimate flexibility.

Intelligent query processing

Get high-quality answers and recommendations thanks to automatic query classification. This determines the best strategy for selecting the right content and includes guardrails to control "hallucinations" and evaluate answer quality.

Rocket® Smart Chat for MultiValue

Boost employee productivity
Use a conversational interface for questions and answers to reduce the manual resources and time required to search through technical documents.

Reduce costs
Cut training and personnel costs with a natural language interface and intelligent content processing that controls the amount of data the LLM processes.

Enhance security and accessibility
Safeguard sensitive files with robust content governance capabilities such as user-friendly access controls and redaction to ensure secure and seamless usage.
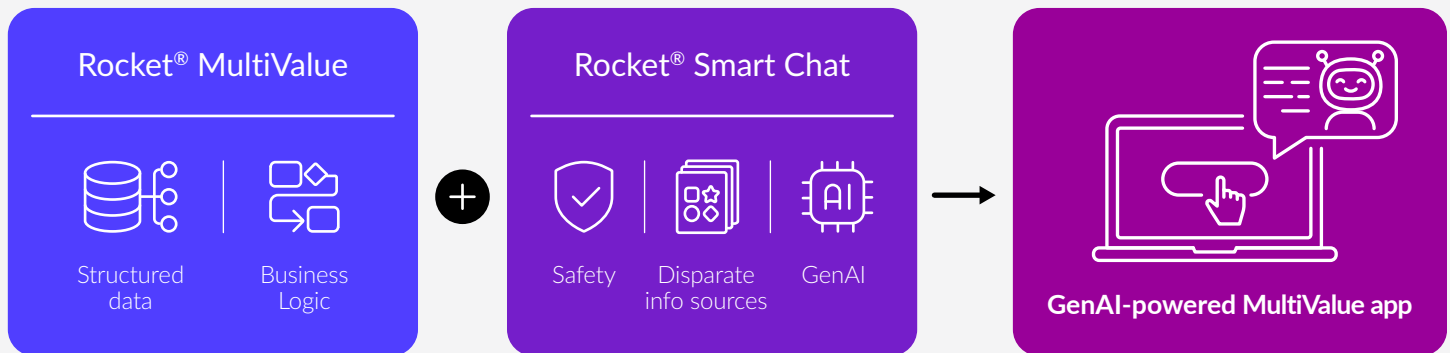

Quickly integrate GenAI capabilities without hassle
Integrate into existing applications using the Smart Chat REST API and connect to multiple data sources and file formats without the need to index content. Reduce the time and resources required to be AI-capable.

Improve decision-making with GenAI
Extract valuable insights from content across disparate data sources, with user guidance and links to content for further research.
